

SAMPLE Alpha list of accepted papers

Communication Technology Division

Pi-Yun An, Southern Mississippi

“U.S. and Local Commercial Television Broadcast Stations of the World Wide Web”

David J. Atkin, Leo W. Jeffres, Kimberly Neuendorf and Ryan Lange, Cleveland State and Paul Skalski, Michigan State

“Why They Chat: Predicting Adoption and the Use of Chatrooms”

Misook Baek, Iowa

“Corporate Monopolies and the Making of American Broadcasting, 1920-27”

Sylvia M. Chan-Olmstead and Byeng- Hee Chang, Florida

“Consumer Awareness and Adoption of Digital Television: Exploring the Audience Knowledge, Perceptions, and Factors Affecting the Adoption of Terrestrial DTV”

Byeng-Hee Chang and Seueng-Eun Lee, Florida

“Refocusing the Issues in the Legal Protection of Databases: The Application of Economic Characteristics of Databases”

Carrie Anna Criado and Camille Kraeplin, Southern Methodist

“The State of Convergence Journalism: United States Media and University Study”

George Daniels, Alabama

“Conceptualizing the Convergence Craze: A Three-Dimensional Model of Multimedia Curriculum Reform”

Constance K. Davis, Purdue

“Web Publishing Confronts International Jurisdiction in Defamation Cases: Implications of Dow Jones v. Gutnick”

Daniela Dimitrova, Iowa State and Richard P. Beilock, Florida

“Determinants of Global Internet Diffusion: An Exploratory Study”

Mohan J. Dutta-Bergman, Purdue

“Consumer Judgments of Source Credibility in an Online Environment: A Functional Approach”

Maria Fontenot, Tennessee

“Internet Regulation — An Oxymoron?”

Cary Roberts Frith and Debashis “Deb” Aikat, North Carolina-Chapel Hill

“The Interplay of Old and New Media: How the Traditional News Agenda Affected Web Searches Before and After September 11, 2001”